WALTER J. COX

VICE PRESIDENT
STATE BANK OF CHICAGO

September 21, 1927

Mr. Walter J. Cox,
State Bank of Chicago,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

I am herewith sending you photographs and a list of sixty odd coins arranged by centuries from which I trust that both you and the architect will be able to select twenty-four coins to your liking. If certain ones are not satisfactory, please let me know and I will substitute others. I tried to give as much of a variety as allowed by the eliminations, as I understood it as outlined by the other gentleman with you. I tried to stay clear of too elaborate and too involved designs. You will note that for the most part you have a choice of two or three coins for each century. Also it is not necessary to try to pick out a coin from nearly every century and it is perfectly proper to use more than one coin from the same century.

If from this layout you can make your choice, return one of these lists showing the pieces desired and I will have plaster casts made. If you desire extra photographs, let me know.

I remain

Very truly yours,

Curator
